

MAXWELL TEAM IMPACT EXECUTIVE REPORT

Learn how to improve your team's productivity and performance by understanding the unique styles of communication.

The Maxwell Team Impact Executive Report provides the Leader with critical information to leverage the best in their team so they can lead them to increased results. It provides the leader with:

- Key characteristics map representing the primary style expressed by your team.
- Specific ways you can work with your team to help them perform at their best.

- A snapshot of how your team's style transforms under pressure. It will help you identify ways to develop and encourage better stress management coping mechanisms.

- A graphical diagram of your team's combined strengths in the seven primary ways to influence people and outcomes. This will enable you to strategically direct the efforts of the combined team in a way that leverages everyone's strengths.

- With communication being an important part of effective leadership, you will have a comprehensive view of the team's overall communication style.
